

A SWEET TOOTH CAN LEAD TO SOUR PROBLEMS

Whether you are struggling with a one-time sugar snack or are regularly eating too much sugar, the effects of sugar overload on your body's system can leave you feeling more sour than sweet.

Actually, there is nothing totally wrong with sugar. In fact, the human body uses glucose, a simple type of sugar, as one of its primary sources of fuel. When sugar is consumed in excess, however, it can have negative effects on your body.

Have you ever wondered how much sugar is too much in a day? Well, there are many studies and a lot of research to find an answer for that. The recommended amount of sugar is 200 calories (12 teaspoons) of sugar per day. According to the Office of Disease Prevention and Health Promotion, the average American eats about 270 calories (17 teaspoons) of sugar per day.

sugar entering your body and giving your energy, added sugar breaks down quickly, entering your bloodstream all at once, resulting in an energy and insulin spikes. After the spike there can also be an energy crash.

This 'sugar rush' enters your bloodstream at a much quicker rate than normal, but also it does so in amounts so high that you are practically bombing your system with sugar.

The result? Increased rates of health problems can affect a person by the consumption of too much sugar, including heart

More than a NUMBER

Senior jerseys tell personal stories

By Haley Kube

Many athletes have a jersey with a deeper meaning behind it, but the seniors on the Yutan football team added their own twist to the story.

Athletes at Yutan get new jerseys every four years, so on rare occasions, a class will end up with the jerseys they chose as freshmen their entire high school career.

One of the seniors still wearing his freshman jersey is starting quarterback Paul Kirchmann, who wears number 7 in honor of his dad.

"It starts back in middle school in my younger years of playing football. I was always like a 17 or I think at one point it was like 15 or 14 because my dad was a college strength coach, and that was the number of years he'd been in the profession," Kirchmann said. "Yutan didn't have a 17, so I was like, 7's close enough, we'll just cut off the one."

Kirchmann explained that he wears that number to this day in his memory of his dad and that it means more to him now than he thought it ever would. "I now have an emotional at dad and building onto his legacy. Kirchmann believes the jersey has a special power to it and turns him into a "new person."

"I feel like a superhero for a second...I'm like Clark Kent turning into Superman," he said.

However, Kirchmann isn't the only player that feels like he's putting armor on. Senior defensive end Gavin Kube also believes his jersey acts as a form of protection.

"It's like a suit everybody puts on...every time I put on that jersey, it feels like I got a job, like I'm going to work," Kube said.

Kube explained that he grew up with that working mindset playing football and that he hopes his number, 70, can turn into something more once he graduates.

"It was the only number available during my time as a freshman," Kube said. "And a number that wasn't very popular could turn out to be a very good number."

By taking a no-name number, Kube hoped to make something of

"I have green markings on my lower right shoulder, and I remember that it was my first sack against the Bergen quarterback," he said.

Instead of his jersey being a connection to the past, Kube wears his jersey as a "symbol" of his work ethic towards the sport he loves.

"I want other kids that when they come up... they're like 'oh, that [jersey] has big shoes to fill,'" he said.

Similar to Kube, senior fullback Jesse Keiser has hopes to make something of his jersey not only for himself but also for his family.

"It's a big deal to me because everyone knows number 9 is Jesse Keiser," he said.

Keiser explains that like him, his younger sister and brother also wear number 9 in their sports and that he was the one who started their "family number."

"It's kind of a Keiser thing to be number 9," Keiser said. With that in mind, Keiser hopes that his jersey will be passed on to his little brother.

king KEVIN THE CROWNING OF KING KEVIN.

A king is crowned: Senior Kevin Santos is voted homecoming king by his peers and crowned at the homecoming game. "I just wanted to make court, it didn't bother me to win king," Santos said. "I was happy that I got people telling me I was voted for me even though I didn't nominate or post myself for it. I was the only one celebrating his win, because when Friends,

On behalf of the great state of Nebraska, welcome to the Nebraska State Championship Games.

You are here because of your hard work, grit, and determination. This event is a chance for you to represent your community, display your love for the sport, and demonstrate your desire to compete. Sports are a reminder of what can happen when we apply ourselves to something we enjoy and embrace. As Coach Osborne taught me when I played for him, you can only get better or worse -- you never stay the same. Perfecting a sport is truly rewarding and provides many opportunities. Along the way, we develop supportive friendships, some of which last a lifetime.

I encourage all of you to accept the challenge in front of you. Do your very best and be a good competitor.

Congratulations to all students and schools participating in this year's event. Know that your friends, family, and fellow Nebraskans will be cheering you on

Sincerely,
Governor Jim Pillen

"High school activities, the other half of education!"

Congratulations to the student participants, their parents and guardians, and the schools they represent on qualifying for the NSAA State Championship activities. We welcome you and applaud your hard work and dedication. The time, the effort, and the commitment you have put into your activity has paid off and you should be very proud of this accomplishment.

The Nebraska School Activities Association is proud of the educational based activities that we provide to our schools for our students. Our mission is to promote the high ideals of citizenship, fair competition, sportsmanship, and teamwork in an effort to complement our member schools' curricular programs.

Perhaps cliché, but definitely true, today's students are tomorrow's leaders. Events like our Championships help to form these leaders by instilling values and leadership qualities while rounding out their educational experiences.

None of this would be possible without the incredible dedication and commitment of the many outstanding teachers, coaches, and administrators throughout Nebraska. These educators, together with strong support from parents and guardians, patrons, and fans like you, provide our children a solid foundation for their future success.

Once again, congratulations, and good luck!
